The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 29-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The limitation 'in combination', as set forth in claim 29, is indefinite as it is unclear what combination is being referred to.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 29,30 and 37-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brewster (fig.4 or 6). To make the splay bar 23 of a channel (U-beam) construction, as is conventional to enable a strong but lightweight construction, would have been an obvious engineering expedient.

Claim 30 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brewster in view of Mitchell. Brewster shows the claimed combination with the exception of the enclosing brackets. Mitchell shows enclosing brackets 52,53. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide enclosing brackets to the U-beam to joint 10 of Brewster for supporting a piece of lumber thereto.

Claims 31-35 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
